Mergent, Inc. Announces the addition of The CRB Commodity Yearbook Collection to Mergent Archives™

Mergent Now Carrying 75 years of The CRB Commodity Yearbook

August 26, 2014, Charlotte, NC – Mergent is excited to announce the availability of The CRB Commodity Yearbook collection to Mergent Archives. Since 1939, professional traders, commercial hedgers, portfolio managers, and speculators around the world have come to rely on The CRB Commodity Yearbook to help them navigate the uncertainties of the commodity markets.

The single most comprehensive source of commodity and futures market information available, the Yearbook is the book of record of the Commodity Research Bureau, which is, in turn, the organization of record for the commodity industry itself. Its sources—reports from governments, private industries, and trade and industrial associations—are authoritative, and its historical scope is second to none.

- Global breadth and extensive depth of information
- Point in time database - view data and read articles written / collected during the year published
- Indispensable for identifying changing trends in supply and demand
- Highlights seasonal patterns, as well as current and historical pricing
- Crucial information on more than 100 commodities
- A macro tool for projecting important price movements
- Identifies trading patterns on a monthly and annual

“The Yearbook is essential for indentifying changing trends in supply and demand over time and with 75 years of history on over 90 markets there is no better source then the Mergent CRB collection to research your theories and prove your results ,” says Fred Jenkins, Executive Vice President, Mergent, Inc.
